SCORCHED SKI-JUMPERS—Skiing was a mighty hot activity for Tom Spence, above, of Los Angeles, Calif. At the first Western Ski-jumping Championships at Mt. Baldy, Calif., competitors donned shorts and outfit shirts to withstand the terrific 100-degree heat. Doubly clad Spence soared 94 feet in this particular jump to win the class A title.

FREIGHTER BREAKS UP AFTER RUNNING AGROUND—The Liberian freighter Seagull, her back broken and decks awash, is held fast to the rocks of Gray Harbor, Wash. The crew was rescued by the Coast Guard.

NET RESULT—An American player, in white, leaps high to an attack on the net as Russian and American battle it out in the Palais des Sports Stadium in Paris, France. The Russian won, to take the World Volleyball Championship.

OFFICIALS TIME OUT—President Eisenhower down a soft drink during a lull out from shaking hands and greeting guests. More than 60 Japanese leaders from all over the United States had gathered in Gettysburg, Pa., to inaugurate the Chief Executive's reelection campaign.

AWAY ALL SCOOTERS—Two adventures ladies plan to cross the English Channel the "easy" way—in a water scooter. The above girls, Kay Harris, front, and Sue Dutton, will scout from Calais to Dover—they hope. The machine has a speed of 20 knots, and will automatically slow and circle back if the riders fall off. The pair is shown, above, on practice run at Folkestone, England.

Eyes will drop from the gridiron when you show your football team on in a casual but smart soft wool skirt of fine plaid. The gussy flared model, left, is cut to emphasize a slim waistline. Wear a wide belt and soft pastel sweater and it's a chic outfit. Scottish hares pervade the throes of rascals' sweaters, neckties and slim wool plaid skirt, right. The latter has traditional fringe trim on the pockets.

AND THE QUEEN GOES WET—Smiling under an official at the rain pour down, Britain's Queen Elizabeth inspects a group of house of the Royal and Northern Highlands during her recent visit to Glen, Scotland. Her Majesty's escort sword held high to ward off rain, gallantly got drenched.

POPULAR NEW ANGLING SPOT—Here is an example of why sport fishing is becoming so popular at Lake in Plunge, Northwestern Ontario, and several miles west. The above scene, above, shows local tourist camp operator and Larry Leander, his camp manager, show how it's done. That's on 100-acre northern lake that Leander is building—and many of them come bigger.

SARASCHKEVICH PUBLISHER IN BRITAIN—On vacation in Association on a post commission tour of Britain and the Continent, Britain, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Quinn (right) of Western, recently organized by Motorways Ltd. a London travel company. They are shown London, Mr. Quinn, publisher of the Western Review, and his publisher outside the House of Parliament with Mr. D. R. Wilson, who are traveling as members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers publisher of the Shawington Standard, Quebec.

NATURAL LINE of Jacques Giff's Paris design has been on view at Balmain's International Museum. The style was original exclusive rights in Canada to Giff's French House of Fashion. The casual grace of black velvet shown above is called "Boudoir".

BLOODED STOCK The bloodhound derives its name from the fact that it was the first breed of dog in which a record of pedigree was kept. This is was called blood.
